The percentage of people in the District of North Vancouver with a non-official mother tongue language was 24.8%. The most common non-official language was Persian (Farsi) with 18.6% followed by Korean with 10.1%. Compared to other municipalities in Metro Vancouver, the DNV had the lowest percent of people with a non-official mother tongue language. Over 88.2% of the population in the DNV were knowledgeable in English while 10.7% were knowledgeable in English and French. Only 1.0% of the population had no knowledge of English or French. For the majority of DNV residents (97.1%) English was the first official language spoken.

- Percent of population with non-official language: 24.8%
- Knowledge of English only: 88.2%
- Knowledge of English and French: 10.7%
- No knowledge of English or French: 1.0%
- English as the first official language spoken: 97.1%
- French as the first official language spoken: 1.3%
- Most common non-official language: Persian (Farsi), 18.6%